The district Attorney has dedicated her career to the pursuit of justice. She started as a Houston police officer, working her way through graduation at the University of Houston and the South Texas college of Law. She entered private practice and went on to be elected to county court and state district criminal court judgeships. Lykos presided over more than 20,000 cases in her 14 years as a felony court judge.

In her first year of DA, Pat launched several initiatives. She created diversions programs for non violent first offender juveniles and a DIVERT project to reduce DWI recidivism. New divisions and actions are Animal Cruelty, Child Exploitation, Cold Cases and Fugitive Apprehension, Mental Health, Post conviction Review, Protection of the Elderly and Disabled and Victims' Rights.
